

League of Conservation Voters GreenRoots Program - Take Action Today!

So you want to get involved!?

How do I start?

GreenRoots is LCV's member-mobilization work designed to help elect climate champions up and down the ticket, with a special emphasis on Hillary Clinton and senate candidates. The campaign offices are always buzzing with activity. LCV's GreenRoots organizers and members have a lot of important work to get accomplished before Election Day if we plan to take home a nationwide victory for our candidates. As the saying goes, "many hands, make light work!" In order to meet the strategic goals our campaign has set in place to ensure a win on Election Day, we must quickly and efficiently come together to get to work. If you are an LCV member, getting involved is as easy as simply reaching out and saying so!

Where can I help?

The LCV GreenRoots campaign is currently in 11 states and has the capacity to help you get started in the most convenient location to you. Our experienced organizers are ready to reach out to you and decide the best course of action regarding your location and schedule. If you are travelling from out of town, if absolutely necessary and with the proper notification of time, our team can work with you to find you a place to stay during your time helping us take action.

What can I do to help?

Action on a campaign takes on many forms. The most effective way to help the campaign is to engage in person-to-person voter contact. The best ways to do this are:

- Door-to-Door Canvassing
- Phone calls to voters

If you prefer to knock on doors with a partner, we can set that up. If you have a fellow LCV member you want to bring along, that's even better. Weekends starting October 15, and continuing until Election Day on November 8 will be the biggest, busiest and most important of the campaign and we would love for you to join.

What do I do next?

Once you reach out to one of our knowledgeable staff members, we will work with you to decide which Coordinated Campaign office location is best for you to take action. We will provide you with a list of upcoming events and review your schedule with you. Our team will schedule your arrival and action, and follow up with you to confirm the details.

Once you arrive on ground we will provide you with:

- The proper training for you to embark on your volunteer opportunity with success;
- An official LCV GreenRoots volunteer t-shirt;
- And opportunities to meet with other likeminded members and volunteers.

No matter what opportunity you select, you will be joined by great LCV members. Hundreds of LCV members just like you volunteer nationwide every day to make sure environmental champions win in November.
